

Dear JJSBMF(Board Members)

Happy Easter! As we celebrate the resurrection of our Savior, I am reminded that while the world around us is in unrest, our foundation remains unshakable forever.

Here in Nepal, we have seen historic shifts recently. Following the "Gen-Z" movements this past year, a new government has taken shape this week, led by a 35-year-old engineer and rap singer as our Prime Minister. Political instability has caused much suffering over the many years, we find peace knowing that earthly governments shift, but God is forever stable. We are praying for the day we can practice our faith freely. It hasn't happened yet, but we aren't giving up

despite the challenges

The shadows of global conflict have also reached our doorsteps. Our people working in the Middle East and Gulf area as migrant laborers are now returning home with nothing, having lost their jobs, savings, and hope for the future. This has placed great strain on some of our church families and children. they may find comfort and hope in Christ.

We are overjoyed that several fellowships have grown into vibrant churches across the country! It is a blessing to see this growth, but my heart's desire is to do more for the local leaders behind it. I want to support them not just spiritually, but financially—so leaders can focus on their mission instead of struggling to meet their families' basic needs.

I am grateful for the opportunity to train church leaders in the Chitwan region. This program has proven highly fruitful for local churches, and I remain dedicated to equipping the next generation to lead churches with integrity and faith.

Our "Mercy Mission" remains the heartbeat of our community outreach. Even with many challenges, we strive to be salt and light—providing education for orphaned children and supplying medicine and food for the elderly, widows and needy. We believe this work is the most visible witness of Christ's love among our people.

On a personal Note, God has been so good to our family. Kripa has been promoted to the 10th grade this month, and Nishan is continuing his studies with great dedication at Engineering college. We are overjoyed to see them growing not just academically, but in maturity and their walk of faith. Rina and I keep our eyes fixed on our Savior, seeking to be the best witnesses for His glory.

Friend, you are our treasure. You are with us in prayer at every step of this journey. Thank you for standing with us in this mission. May the joy of the risen Christ fill your hearts this Easter!

Blessings,

Pastor Mitra Dangol.
